Why should RDO's get involved with Arts/Culture?

- Big Question: Arts/Culture versus infrastructure
 - Economic development
 - Community building
- What's in it for an RDO?
 - Help diversify the local economy
 - Gain some recognition
- Who benefits: both cities and smaller rural areas

RVARC's Work with Arts/Culture

- Support of Blueprint 2000: A Regional Arts and Cultural Plan (1994)
 - Purpose to heighten awareness about arts/culture, assess strengths/weaknesses, look at funding alternatives to stabilize organizations, and promote collaboration among organizations.
 - Efforts to implement the Blueprint: outlined mechanisms for collaboration (joint ticketing, shared services); alternatives for enhancing funds (Blue Ridge Assets District, United Way for the Arts, Arts in K-12)

A Vision for the Cultural Community of the Roanoke Region of Western Virginia

Final Report and Recommendations

- Using Regional Assets to Promote Arts/Culture: Formation of Virginia's Western Highlands
 - Purpose: to build an artisans trail and promote tourism in the rural areas of our district.
 - Used an ARC grant for community meetings to develop assets. Process modeled after Hand Made in America.
 - Worked with the Artisans Center of Virginia to collect listing of artists. Developed web site to draw visitors.

- Economic Impact Assessments: used the impact studies to illustrate economic benefits of arts/culture on region.
 - 4 regional economic impact assessments over 12 years.
 - Most recent impact assessment showed that arts/cultural organizations brought in $12 million in outside money into the region and employed more than 150 people. This doesn't include the multiplier affect within the region.
 - Economic impact studies also conducted for arts/craft festivals.
 - Analyzed economic impact of a community center and incubator in Highland County.

The page features a decorative graphic on the right side consisting of three overlapping circles in various shades of blue, arranged vertically. Two thin blue lines originate from the top left and extend towards the circles, creating a sense of movement and framing. The circles are positioned in the upper right, middle right, and lower right areas of the page.

Roanoke Arts Commission

The Arts and Cultural Plan was developed under the leadership of the Roanoke Arts Commission with the engagement of area residents, artists, and arts and cultural organization leaders.

- Prepared a Roanoke Regional Arts and Culture Analysis:
 - The regional Business Council contracted with the Regional Commission to examine the existing financial condition of arts and cultural organizations.
 - Examined revenue streams, expenditures, and net assets.
 - Compared results for our region with five other comparable regions.

August 2011

- Ride Solutions (our regional rideshare program) helped to develop an Art by Bike tour:
 - The tour material was paid for through the rideshare program.
 - Additionally, we were able to pay for a “artsy” bike rack as a part of this effort.
