Defining Rural America?

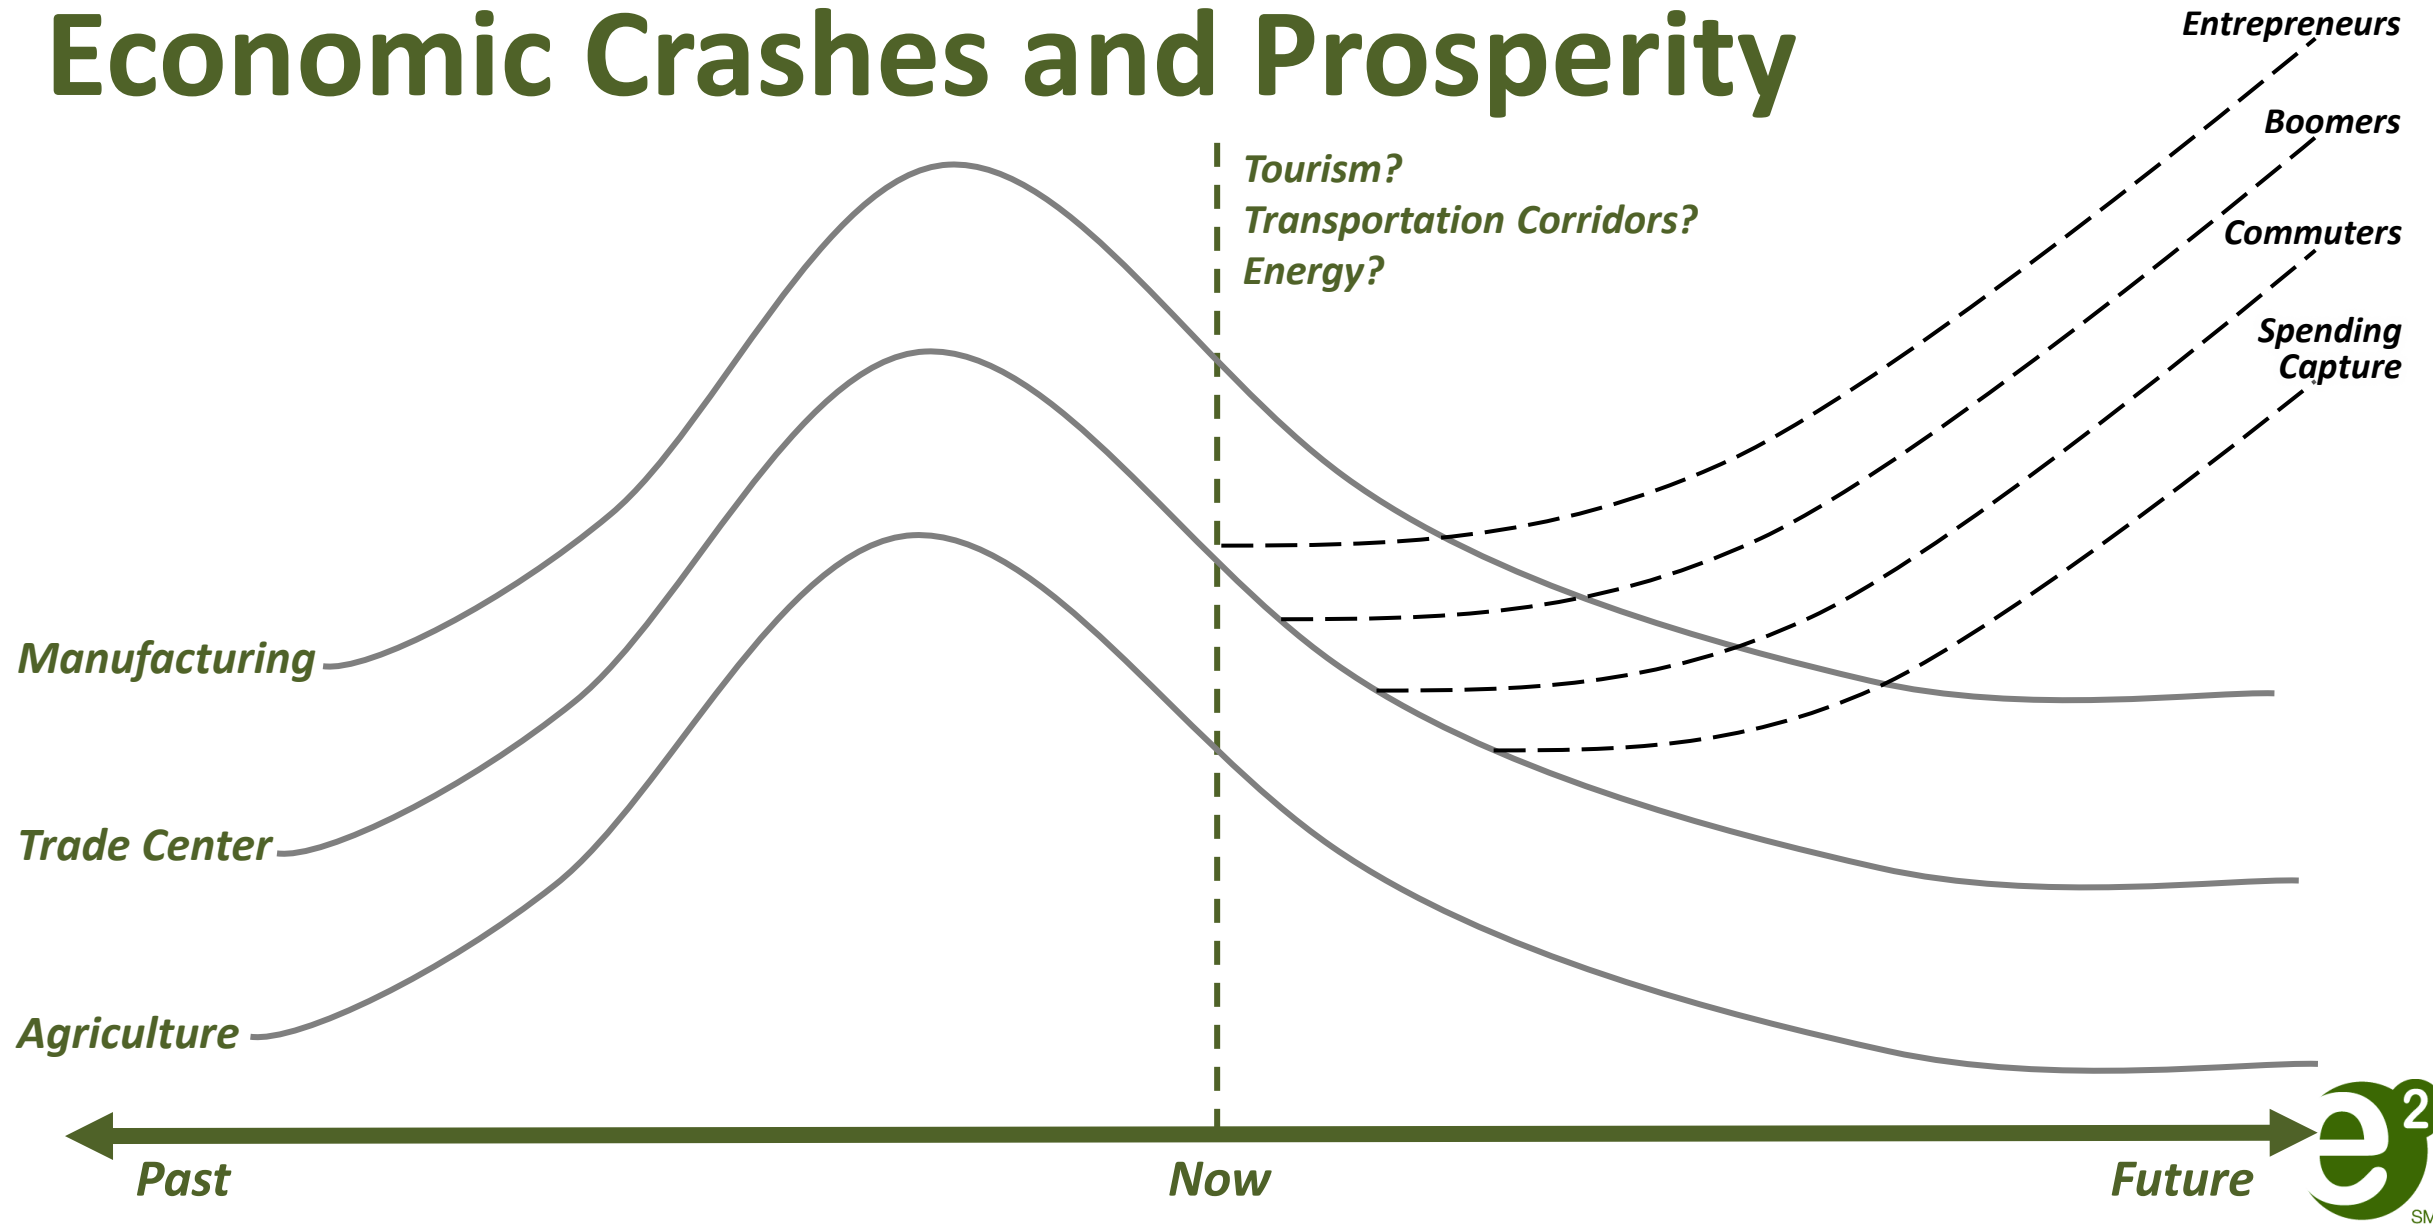

A photograph of a historic street scene. On the left, a row of colorful, multi-story brick buildings with arched windows and balconies lines the street. The colors include red, pink, blue, and yellow. In the background, a steep hillside covered in trees with autumn foliage rises above the town. The sky is clear and blue. On the right, a large, leafy tree is partially visible. The overall atmosphere is bright and sunny.
