- 12:30 p.m. Keynote – Storytelling for Influence and Engagement
- You may not consider yourself to be a storyteller but the reality is, you are! We cannot move through a single day without sharing stories or being shaped by them. Storytelling is one of the practices that makes us uniquely human, and the ways stories are told, heard, and amplified profoundly influence how people think, feel, and act.
- Today, however, influence demands more than intuition or tradition. To engage communities responsibly and effectively, we must evolve this ancient form of connection and apply it in strategically modern and ethical ways. This keynote presentation will take us on a journey through the past, present, and future of storytelling for influence and engagement, offering practical insights into how EDD leaders and staff can use stories to build trust, inspire action, and create meaningful impact.
- Professor John D. Trybus, Ph.D., story scientist and executive director, Georgetown University Center for Social Impact Communication
- 1:30 p.m. Networking Break
- 1:45 p.m. Peer Presentations: EDD Communication & Outreach Strategies
