Sponsor & Exhibitor Opportunities

About

The National Association of Development Organizations (NADO) is a 501(c)(4) membership association that advocates for federal policies and programs supporting equitable community development, economic competitiveness, rural advancement, and quality of place. Founded in 1967, NADO represents a national network of over 500 Regional Development Organizations (RDOs), which provide essential planning and development services to thousands of cities and counties. These services vary from RDO to RDO, and can include workforce training, transportation planning, public infrastructure, affordable housing, disaster prevention, and more. Through our work, NADO strengthens regional collaboration and promotes sustainable economic mobility across the United States.

The NADO Research Foundation (NADO RF) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization dedicated to supporting and strengthening the national network of RDOs. Founded in 1988, NADO RF provides technical assistance, education, research, and training to promote innovative and effective approaches to regional community development. Through thought leadership and the production of practical resources, NADO RF helps RDOs enhance their capacity in areas such as transportation, infrastructure, organizational development, economic resilience, and more.

NADO and the NADO RF invites your organization to explore our Sponsor and Exhibitor Guide to learn more about how you can connect with RDO leaders, practitioners, and decision-makers from across the country. This guide provides comprehensive information on how your organization can engage with attendees at national conferences and events hosted by NADO. Whether your organization is looking to showcase innovative solutions, build strategic partnerships, or expand your reach in the regional development space, our events offer a dynamic platform to elevate your brand and make meaningful connections.

NADO & DDAA Washington Conference

Arlington, VA

The NADO & DDAA Washington Conference offers a premier opportunity for sponsors and exhibitors to engage directly with leaders in regional planning, economic development, and public policy. Held in Arlington, Virginia, this high-impact event attracts hundreds of professionals from across the country who are shaping the future of rural and regional communities. Sponsors and exhibitors gain valuable exposure through dedicated networking events, branded visibility in conference materials, and direct access to decision-makers from Regional Development Organizations (RDOs), federal agencies, and local governments. Whether showcasing innovative solutions or building strategic partnerships, your presence at this conference positions your organization at the forefront of regional development conversations.

Co-hosted by NADO and the Development District Association of Appalachia (DDAA), the event features a robust agenda of plenary sessions, breakout discussions, networking receptions, and Capitol Hill visits. Attendees explore federal policies, regional development strategies, and collaborative solutions that impact local communities. The conference kicks off with meetings for board and advisory committee members, followed by an opening reception and dinner, and continues with content-rich programming designed to foster learning, advocacy, and peer exchange among development practitioners.
