SOUTHEASTERN REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT AGENCY

The Southeastern Regional Development Agency (SERDA) formerly known as the Southeastern Utah Association of Local Governments (SEUALG) was established in 1969 to address problems that extend beyond traditional jurisdictional boundaries. The agency was designed to eliminate duplication of efforts and to provide a stronger role for local government officials in planning, coordinating and administering state and federal programs at the local level.

SERDA is also the EDD for the southeastern region - known as the Southeastern Utah Economic Development District.

Levitt Foundation

In the 2023 General Legislative Session, the Utah League of Cities & Towns lobbied for funds to assist over 140 cities and towns throughout the State of Utah who do not have sufficient, trained, full-time administrative staff. About 60% of all cities and towns!

In the same year, funds were allocated to help build the Local Administrative Advisor Program. These funds are paired with other planning grants from the Governor's Office of Planning and Budget and divied to each of the seven Associations of Local Governments throughout Utah.

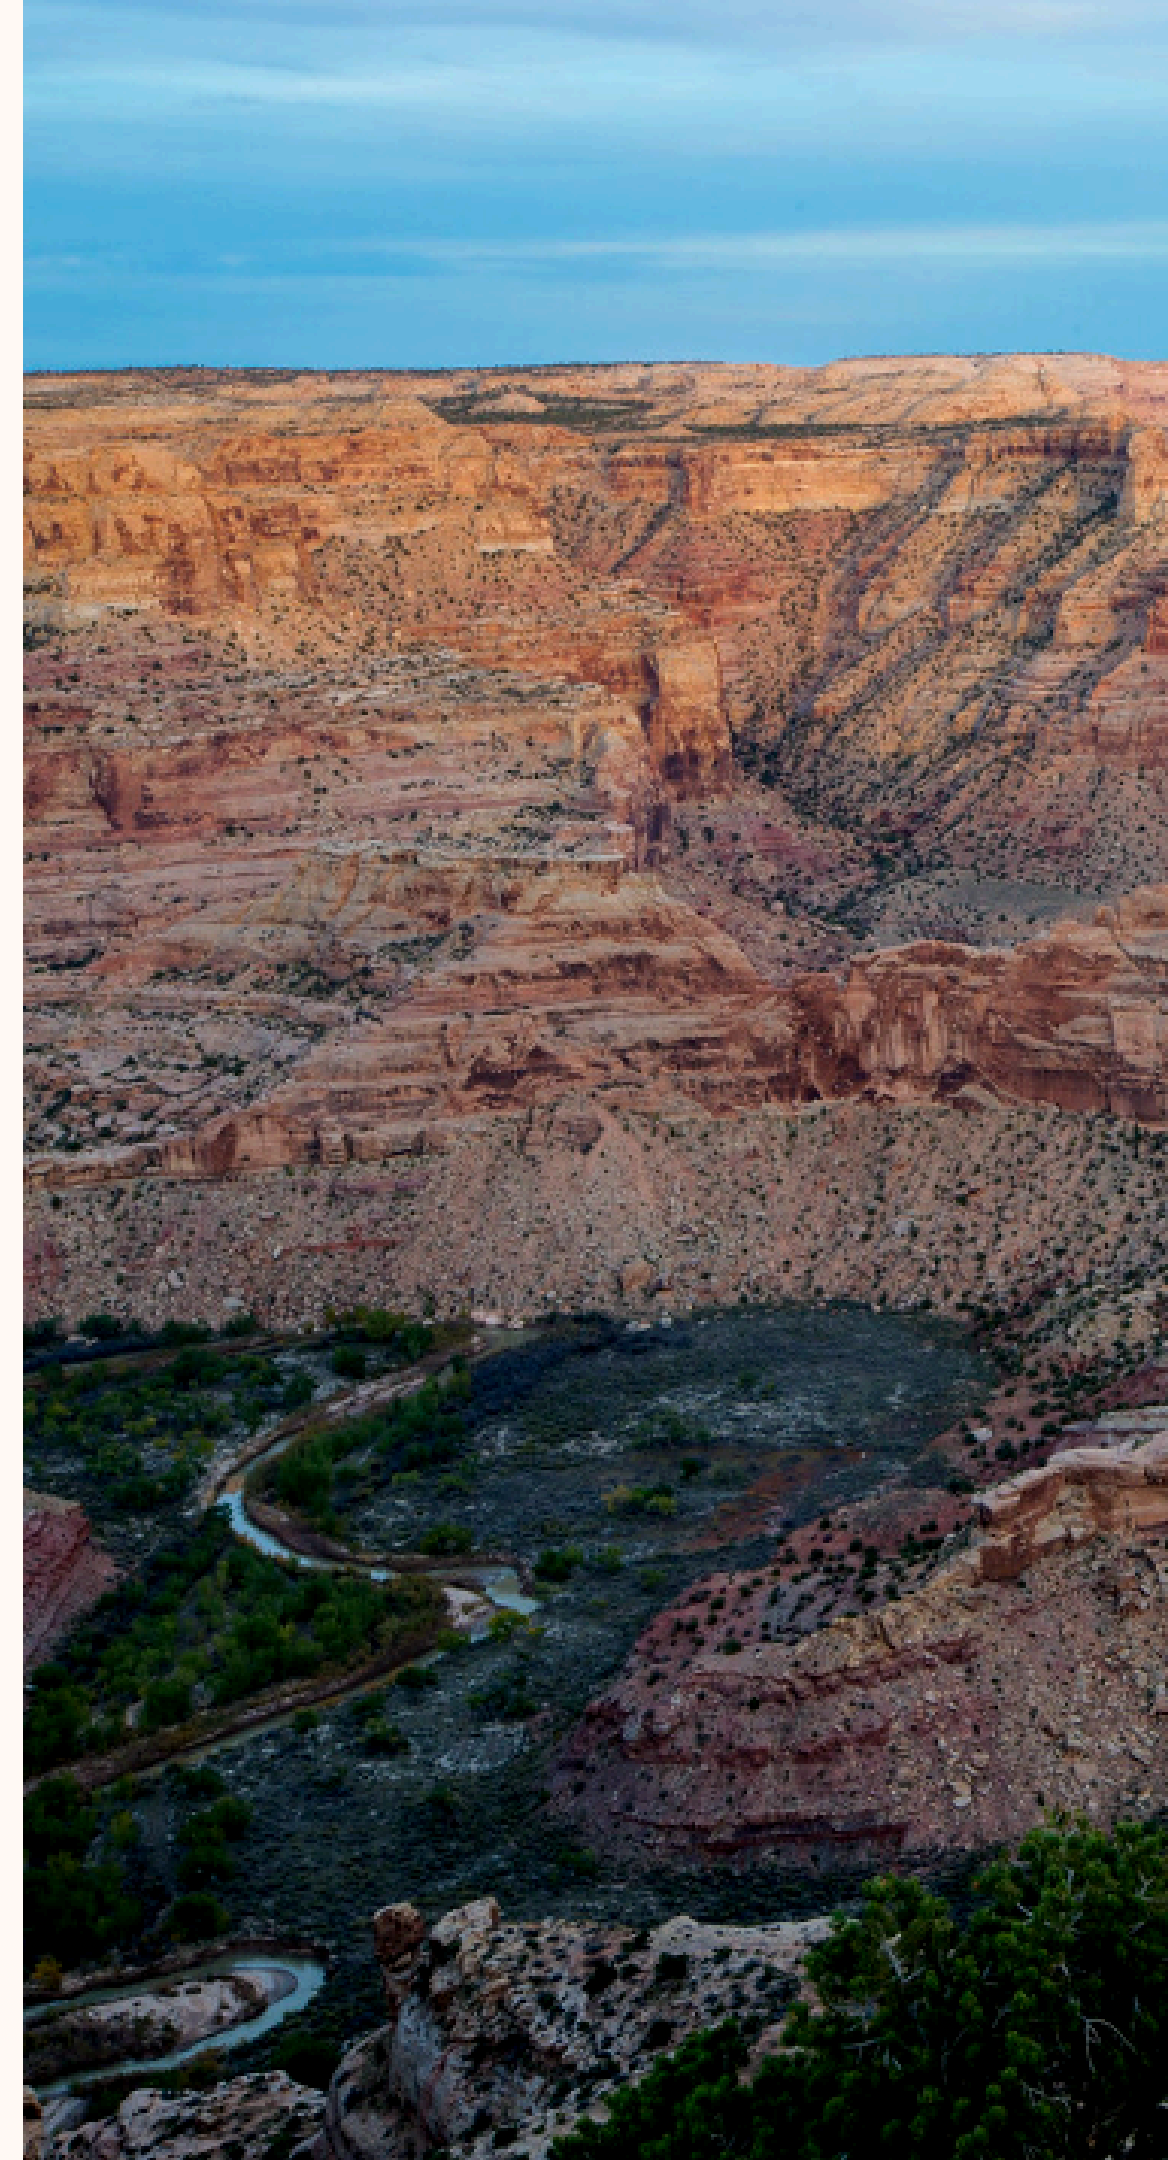

This consolidated grant funds planning teams at east AOG and more specifically, at least one LAA position.

LOCAL ADMINISTRATIVE ADVISOR

PLANNING AT SERDA

The State of Utah awards a consolidated contract to each Association of Government (AOG) a planning grant that is divided into three sections: Community Impact Funding, Local Administration Advisor Funding and Regional Partnership Planning Funding.

This allows: general plan updates, ordinance updates, general technical assistance, application support for statewide grants, etc.
